

Habits of a Scholar: Scholarliness

"Education is the key to unlock the golden door of freedom" – George W. Carver

Student Scholars develop these habits to unlock their future.

Academic Humility

Scholars have a thirst for knowledge. They seek to do it better, strive to learn and try new and more things.

Intellectual Risk Taking

Scholars challenge their minds and constantly force them to grow. They engage in activities outside their field to stay challenged.

Ponder Ideas

Scholars Think! Scholars know that quality thoughts take time to develop and take time for reflection.

Excellence

Scholars take pride in their work and seek excellence in their finished products.

Multiple Perspectives

Scholars look beyond themselves and see how others view things. They understand that we do not have to agree to understand other perspectives.

Save Ideas

Scholars organize their learning and find ways to save their ideas; journal, binder, CD, thumb drive.

Prepared

Scholars have their materials ready and are prepared mentally and physically with whatever is needed to learn.

Perseverance

Scholars exercise their minds by trying challenging tasks and sticking to them, no matter how difficult.

Vision/Goals

Scholars blaze trails and pace roads. They know having a goal is key, not the content of the goal. Scholars understand that without a path, there can be no vision.

Varied Resources

Scholars look at multiple resources, including primary and secondary sources when learning.

Curiosity

Scholars always wonder: how does it work, feel, interact, etc. and are willing to ask questions and seek answers.
